“ Doris used to come into the Root River Market on occasion and help straighten the merchandise on the shelves. She would talk to me while I was working in the bakery and tell me stories. I was particularly interested in knowing that she picked cotton by hand at some point in her facinating life. She was wonderful kind person.

“ My thoughts are with Doris' family at this time. Doris & Jerry moved in next door to me and shortly became not only neighbors but friends.. There was usually activity next door and I soon learned and met their extended family. Judd & John were around a lot and I liked them so much. Doris would pop over to my house for short visits usually sharing fresh baking & meals with me which were delicious. She cooked Texas style a lot and it was good!! I could go on with lots of stories but I missed them when they moved to their new apt.. Good memories!
